Proposition 65 Warning

In recent years, California announced amendments to its regulations under Proposition 65. Generally speaking, Proposition 65 requires businesses to notify Californians about the existence of certain chemicals in the products they purchase, in their homes or workplaces, or that are released into the environment. It applies to all businesses that operate in California or sell products into California, which includes Steelscape. The amendments now require manufacturers throughout the supply chain to participate in the notification process.

Accordingly, Steelscape is now required to include a warning label on the packaging of its products. Please do not be alarmed when you see this warning. Our products have been and continue to be safe for their intended use and any chemicals included in our products have been and continue to be stable. That said, in order to comply with these new regulations, we are labeling all of packaging, regardless of whether the products are shipped to users in California. The warning will look like this:

 WARNING. Cancer and Reproductive Harm – www.P65Warnings.ca.gov

Should you wish to learn more about Proposition 65, California's Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment maintains a comprehensive website on the topic. That website can be found at <https://oehha.ca.gov/proposition-65/general-info/proposition-65-plain-language>.

In addition, Steelscape includes the below Proposition 65 statement, along with chemical composition information on its safety data sheets (SDS).

WARNING: This product may contain chemicals known to the State of California to cause cancer, birth defects, or other reproductive harm.

Steelscape SDSs are available by request or at www.steelscape.com. The chemical compositions included on Steelscape SDSs is representative of the entire Steelscape range of products and not a single, specific, order.

Thank you for your continued business with Steelscape.
